

Wilson Hayworth

Mechanical Engineer with a career in Electromechanical assemblies and passive components including the design, development, and business management.

Holds 2 Patents for Integrated passive component design and has 30 years of experience working with the automotive, military, and aerospace industries.

Currently the Product Manager for Mil/Aero and Medical Implantable products with KEMET electronics.